Dewitt MacKenzie Interprets Today's News
From War Zones

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Herr Hitler has made his peace
gesture—peace on my terms,
take it or leave it—to be rejected
by the Anglo-French allies almost before his emotional voice stopped vibrating through the world's radios from Danzig.

Whether some third party—
Mussolini, for instance—may still venture to propose peace negotiations hasn't yet been made clear.
The allied answer, however,
must always remain the same unless there is a revolutionary change either in their views or those of Hitler.

The Anglo-French pledge to Poland places them in the same position they occupied as regards
little Belgium in the World War.
A bit more than a year after that conflict began, when peace talk
was going the rounds, the distinguished commentator Frank Simonds (now dead) wrote in the New York Tribune:

"First of all, there is no mistaking the fact that neither France
nor Great Britain will today make peace or discuss peace until they are assured that the evacuation of Belgium by the Germans is to be the first article of the treaty. The debt of honor which France and England owe Belgium is alone sufficient to compel these nations to continue the fight for the deliverance of the country of King Albert from the invader until they are utterly exhausted."

The Anglo-French bond with Poland commits them to the task of expelling Germany or any other invader. And they have widened
the field by declaring they will not quit until "Hitlerism is smashed."

So it looks as though there is a long and nasty war ahead.

England some days ago let it be known she was preparing for a three-year war. Hitler tossed that over his shoulder in his Danzig speech, and declared that seven years would find Germany
still on the job.

Experts say that in herself
Germany couldn't hold over any such period of war. She lacks the foodstuffs, the war materials and the money. She must have help from outside nations.

The Nazi Fuehrer's assurance presumably comes in large degree from the assistance he expects to get from Russia in the way of supplies. The opening up of the Russian granaries and oil
wells and mineral wealth to Germany would tend to protract the war indefinitely.

Many observers believe the allies' chief hope of shortening the conflict must lie in their campaign
to cause the German people to revolt against the Hitler regime. In this connection Hitler in his Danzig speech charged England with making war on women and children against Germany.

It was then that Hitler made a declaration which was interpreted as a threat to exact an eye for an eye in the warfare if necessary.

"England hypocritically began

SEC Rules That Du Pont Reports Were Erroneous

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—
The Securities Commission ruled today that Pierre S. Du Pont had not wilfully filed "erroneous and misleading" reports of his transactions in stock of the Du Pont Chemical company.

"Further action is not required,"
the SEC announced.

On June 9, the SEC ordered an investigation to determine whether Du Pont, chairman of the board of
E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company, had violated sections of the securities act which require reports on stock transactions of company officers and directors.

The commission's announcement
today said: "In the course of the investigation, it was developed
that the initial report filed by Mr.
Du Pont on January 11, 1935,
stated that he was the owner of 33,352 shares of common stock of
E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company."

"Subsequent reports filed by Mr.
Du Pont stated that he had acquired additional shares, thereby increasing his holdings of such stock."

"However, during this entire period, Mr. Du Pont was, in fact,
in a short position in this stock;
that is, he owed more shares of Du Pont common stock than he owned."

The commission said Du Pont
failed to disclose his net short position until May 8, 1939, when he filed a corrected report to cover
the period from Dec. 31, 1934, to February 28, 1939.

The commission's ruling said,
"however, the evidence indicates that Mr. Du Pont was not motivated by a desire to conceal any facts or to mislead stockholders
by his reports."

PURPOSE UNCHANGED SAYS CHAMBERLAIN

DIXON LOSES APPEAL OVER DeLEW FEES

Appellate Court Gives Decision Upholding $3,000 Verdict

The city of Dixon is liable for fees claimed by the engineering firm of Charles DeLeuw & Co., of Chicago in preparation of plans
and specifications for the construction of the sewage treatment plant,
according to a decision handed down by the Appellate court of the second district yesterday. The DeLeuw firm filed suit in the Lee county Circuit court against the city and a jury trial was conducted
before Judge Harry Edwards
in January, 1938. Attorney Clyde Smith was retained to represent the city and Attorney Robert L.
Bracken, of the firm of Dixon, Devine, Bracken & Dixon appeared for the engineering firm. The jury
by its verdict awarded the De-Leuw company $3,000, and an appeal was taken by the city.

The opinion of the appellate court in reviewing the action affirms the judgment of the trial
court, and states:

"The work done by the appellee
in preparing the surveys, plans, specifications and estimates of the proposed work was extensive and in detail. It was upon same the city obtained the P. W. A. grant.
Appellee had no way of knowing
the city administration would later
become apprehensive of the attitude of the people toward the bond issue and would repeal the ordinances, and allow the P. W. A.
grant to expire by its failure to act."

Reviewing the case, the appellate court findings state as follows:

Appellant city desired to construct a sewage disposal plant together with a system of interesting sewers to divert the sewage to such plant. Pursuant to this situation, appellee corporation,
which was engaged in the business
of civil and municipal engineering,
submitted its written proposal to the city for engineering services
in connection with the proposed work. The proposal was submitted in writing on July 29, 1933. On August 7, 1933, the city council accepted the proposal as made, and agreement between the parties for the work to be done by appellee followed. Plans, specifications, estimates and all necessary data were made and filed by appellee with appellant. The same together with the report filed therewith were approved and adopted by the city council on Nov.
14, 1933. Thereafter such report, plans, specifications, estimates and data were filed by the city with the Federal Emergency Adminis-

GOP Majority Leader Wins N. Jersey Primary

Newark, N. J., Sept. 20.—(AP)—
State Senator Arthur F. Foran, Republican majority leader who was opposed for re-nomination on the ground he supported the "interests" of Mayor Frank Hague
of Jersey City, state Democratic leader, won a sweeping victory in yesterday's primary election.

Only one of five incumbent senators meeting intra-party opposition, Foran, father of movie-star
Dick Foran, defeated C. Ryman Herr, Stanton attorney, for the party nomination in rural Hunterdon county by more than 2 to 1.

Now That Mars Has Tossed the Dice Again, What of Women Everywhere?

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—How is war—this war in Europe and Asia today—changing the lives of women?

The World war revolutionized
the lives of women.

Women in western Europe and America bobbed their hair, powdered their noses and invaded industry—and stayed there after the armistice. Women in Turkey put aside their veils. More women in China walked on unbound feet.

Now that Mars has tossed the dice again, what of women?

News stories tell of women
fighting in Warsaw. Pictures show Polish women in uniform—
belted jacket, helmet and trousers—
organized for duty behind the lines. Pictures show girls in slacks, women in "just any old thing" digging trenches.

Nurses' uniforms are a familiar sight again in belligerent countries—and it was only 85 years ago during the Crimean war that Florence Nightingale organized
the first women's war-nursing corps.

The World war accepted wom-

Aftermath

Munkacs, Hungary, Sept. 20
—(AP)—Alfred Bitja, 50,
governor of Lwow, capital of the Polish Ukraine, was found dead in a hotel room here.

A letter found beside his body contained instructions
for distribution of $1,500 cash
which Bitja carried with him
and directed that his automobile be given to his chauffeur.
Bitja arrived here early yesterday from Poland. Hotel employees said they heard the sound of a pistol shot shortly after he entered his room.

ATTORNEYS HOLD ELECTION; HANG BARGE PORTRAIT

Robert L. Warner Chosen President Lee County Bar Association

Hon. J. C. Seyster of Oregon, dean of the Ogle county bar, who studied in the offices of the late
Hon. William Barge in Dixon, gave the address in the Circuit court room today which accompanied the hanging of a fine oil portrait of the late distinguished attorney. Members of the Lee County Bar Association and some who knew the eminent jurist were present at the ceremonies. Mrs.
Elizabeth Barge Martin, a daughter attended the exercises, which were presided over by Attorney Seyster. In his talk, he recalled many interesting incidents of court procedure in which Attorney Barge figured.

nual meeting of the Lee County

Chicago Writer Escapes Section Held by Russians

By LLOYD LEHRBAS

Cernauti, Rumania, Sept. 20.— (AP)—Richard Mowrer, correspondent for the Chicago Daily News, escaped from the Russian-occupied section of Poland last night by wading the Dniester river.
(Mowrer yesterday was reported to have been under arrest by Soviet soldiers at the Polish frontier
town of Zaleszczyki.)

Mowrer and William Morton,
United States vice consul in Warsaw, were caught on the Polish side of the river by the Russian occupation. Morton still is in Zaleszczyki, unable to get Russian permission to enter Rumania.

Frank Morton, an American cameraman, and I found Mowrer
on a dusty road nine miles inside
the Rumanian border and brought him into Cernauti today.

Mowrer and I left Warsaw together when the Polish government moved from the capital. I drove to the Cristeatic bridgehead opposite Zaleszczyki early this morning and attempted to get news of Mowrer, but Rumanian
officials refused permission to walk across the bridge and question the Soviet military.

Shortly after turning back I spotted the familiar blue basque
beret Mowrer acquired in Spain.
After walking all night and early in the morning to keep off the main highway, because Rumanians
often arrested him, Mowrer was footsores and weary.

After wading the river he hid on a bluff until daylight, then struck out overland toward Cernauti.

WHITE HOUSE PARLEY OVER NEUTRALITY

Meets This Afternoon as Prelude to Con- vening Congress

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—
As a prelude to a historic congressional battle over American neutrality policies, President Roosevelt called 15 Democratic and Republican leaders to a White House conference today on repealing the arms embargo.

The bi-partisan meeting, set for 2 P. M. (C. S. T.) was expected to receive a presidential plea for quick and united action
in the special session of the senate and house which will begin tomorrow.

Whether Roosevelt will ask congress to repeal the entire neutrality act instead of just the arms embargo section will have to await his message, he told reporters yesterday.

Opposition forces in the senate, however, served notice they planned a determined struggle to retain the embargo, although they disclaimed intention of filibustering.

Stephen Early, White House
press secretary, said this morning that the president was "disposed to have a very free and frank discussion" at the meeting
this afternoon.

Meanwhile, one of the con-
ferrees, Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican standard bearer, expressed belief that congress,
meeting tomorrow, should remain
in session during the emergency
period of the European war.

"There is a definite feeling," Landon said, "that congress should stay in session. There is more confidence in the united
judgment of the representatives
than in any one man's opinion.
So much depends on the slender thread of incidents that we want
congress to stay in session."

To Emphasize Point
Landon said he intended to emphasize this point in discussion
with the president if given an opportunity.

The 1936 Republican presidential nominee declared that sentiment in the middle west, and as disclosed in mail he has received,
appeared to be "very strong" for an extension of the cash-and-
carry method of sales to belligerent nations. He declined, however, to say whether he was in favor of including arms, now
embargoed, in such sales.

There had been a "very interesting shift" in sentiment in the past two weeks, Landon said,
from a "fatalistic conviction that we would get into the war in the end."

"There has been a definite shift in the last two weeks that we are not going to get into it," Landon told newspapermen who assembled in his hotel suite for an informal press conference. "The yardstick by which we are measuring everything now is whether it is going to keep us out of war."

Trains, planes and autos were bringing legislators back to Washington less than two months after congress adjourned without acting on presidential appeals to revoke the neutrality law.

Despite divergent views on the arms embargo, members were unanimous in declaring their constituents wanted the United States to avoid war.

Champion Tips Scales at 200; Pastor at 183

Detroit, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Joe Louis, world heavy-weight champion, had a 17-pound weight advantage over Bob Pastor, the challenger, when they weighed in today for tonight's title fight.
Louis scaled an even 200 pounds
and Pastor 183.

The fighters weighed in at the Detroit fairgrounds race track clubhouse. A crowd of about 400 fight fans, newsmen and photographers witnessed the ceremony.

Louis, attired in black trunks,
was first on the scales. He stopped briefly and extended his hand to Pastor. They shook but neither spoke.

Pastor wore blue trunks with red striping. His weight proved to be four pounds above the 179
he packed in his previous battle with Louis.

Signs of Naval Fight in Kattegatt Strait

Copenhagen, Sept. 20.—(AP)— Danish fishermen and a police official reported indications today
that a naval engagement between warring European powers
may have occurred in the Strait
of Kattegatt, between Sweden
and Denmark.

A line of ships northeast of Laeso Island was sighted by the island's police chief, who said
sounds of cannonading came from the vessels.

About 200 shots were fired before the sounds stopped, the police official said after watching with binoculars. He was unable to determine the character of the line of vessels.

Fishermen who ply the strait,
and arm of the North sea leading to the Baltic, said they heard cannonading which could come only from warships, not from aerial bombs.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—

day through his state house office

Friday and Saturday.

NAZI-SOVIET PARTITION OF POLAND SURE

Agreement Reached as Far as Troops are Concerned

By The Associated Press
The German army high command disclosed a Nazi-Soviet agreement had been reached for partition of Poland at least as far as military occupation is concerned.

German and Soviet military officers started conferences in Moscow on problems arising from their occupation of all but a few isolated sections of conquered Poland.

Italy, solidifying her position as leader of the neutral nations, announced withdrawal of her troops
from the Albanian-Greek frontier
as evidence of "reciprocal trust."

On the western front, France
said "the night was calm" except for "enemy artillery activity" east of the Blies river.

On the eastern front, Germany
reported capture of 105,000 prisoners and continuing progress in wiping out Polish resistance.

Poles Still Confident
Describing severe German bombardment of central Warsaw, a Polish communique broadcast said
the Polish capital would resist
with "confidence in our great allies, France and Britain."

Soviet troops, driving in to occupy the Polish Ukraine and White Russian provinces, blocked the entire Polish-Rumanian frontier. A Moscow communique reported the occupation of Lwow, in southeastern Poland, in addition to Wil-
no in the northeast, reported taken yesterday.

In connection with the occupation of Wilno, "Tass" official Russian news agency, said Lithuania
was cooperating with Russia in marking the new frontier. Lithuanians consider Wilno, occupied by Poland in 1920, their ancient capital.

"Word War" Continued

The "word war" was continued
by Britain with an information
ministry statement replying to Adolf Hitler's Danzig speech in which he disclaimed any "war
aims" against Britain and France.

Britain said his speech was "full of crass misstatements."
The French reply to Hitler's speech was a cabinet declaration of France's determination to "carry on the war to definite victory."

Japan Considers Building of U. S. Navy 'Unfriendly'

Tokyo, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman today
declared "certain sections of public opinion which cannot be ignored" considered strengthening of the United States navy an "unfriendly act" toward Japan.

(The spokesman apparently referred to the United States' naval construction program.)

Japan's determination remains unchanged, he asserted, to establish an east Asia economic bloc including all China, Japan and Manchoukuo. United States trade with the bloc would be under restrictions such as now limit it in Manchoukuo, the spokesman said.

Yakichiro Suma, former counselor of the Japanese embassy in Washington, told Japanese newspapers that "the feeling of the American navy is unusually bad toward Japan."

No Fall Festival, No Armistice Day Holiday, Merchants' Decision

One of the largest gatherings
of Dixon merchants to attend a meeting in one group for several months, met last evening at the city hall and discussed numerous subjects. Several interesting subjects were discussed during the short period, and decisions were reached in relation to certain projects which required the meeting.

No final action was taken on the closing of places of business
for the dedication of the Abraham Lincoln bridge and the new armory building on Oct. 5.

The group of about 25 merchants voted to permit employees
to attend Armistice day services
on Nov. 11 instead of closing stores, the annual observation
of this year falling on Saturday.

By a unanimous vote it was decided to abandon any or all plans for a Fall Festival in Dixon this season.

Honor Roll

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.— (AP)—Ten Illinois municipalities of 10,000 to 50,000 population had no traffic fatalities
during the first seven months of this year, the state highway division reported today.

Galesburg was the only city
in the 25,000 to 50,000 population class with a clean slate.
The nine others, all of 10,000
to 25,000 population, were Kewanee, Cairo, LaSalle, Urbana, Centralia, Calumet City, Park Ridge, Sterling and Dixon.

Of municipalities above 50-000, Oak Park had the best record with one traffic death.
Evanston and Decatur had two each. Chicago's total for the seven months was listed
at 372 or 32 more than in the same 1938 period.

CAFETERIA TRAF- FIC COURT GETS SHORT TRY-OUT

Enforcement of Parking Ordinance Proceeds Slowly

The cafeteria traffic court system was given a brief trial in Dixon today and a few were made acquainted with its operations,
but the penalties were not effective. A number of tickets had been issued for violations and offenders reported to pay their $1
when they learned that the new system was not yet in effect.

Under the cafeteria traffic court
plan, offenders are given a ticket
by the officer. A carbon copy is furnished the city clerk and within 24 hours from the time of issuance the offender is required
to present his copy to the city clerk and pay a fine of $1. A record of each violation is kept and
but two violations will be handled
through the cafeteria court, after which charges will be preferred
in police court and the offender
will be assessed costs in addition to the fine.

Created Scene

Tickets issued today were largely for failure to park within the painted zones. Some Dixonites who received tickets appeared to
not understand that their cars
were required to park within the painted lines.

One local individual created a scene on Galena avenue south of First street at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He had previously double parked beside an open parking space across the street from the city hall, while he registered
a complaint against another driver. Leaving the city building, he proceeded down Galena avenue where he again double parked his car and when requested to move to permit another machine which was parked against the curb, to move became very abusive, while several pedestrians
viewed his actions.

Dixon Loses--

tration of Public Works, together with its application for an allotment of funds and for purchase of bonds to be issued by the city, for the cost of the proposed improvement. These matters were approved by the PWA and the city through its Mayor advised the authorities that the city was ready to proceed with the steps necessary to advance the work.

Petition Filed

Pursuant to the foregoing and on Aug. 6, 1934, the council passed a sewer revenue bond ordinance and a rate ordinance. Thereafter a petition for a referendum was filed by the requisite number of voters for the issuance of the sewer revenue bonds in order that the city might avail itself of the grant of financial aid of the P. W. A. The date of the election to vote upon the issuance of the bonds is alleged to have been intended to be set for Nov. 6, 1934. It appears by appellant's only witness, Mr. Gannon, city attorney, that due to certain opposition then existing to the proposed improvement, the city administration was apprehensive that the bond issue might not carry, and not wishing to submit the proposition and have it defeated, the sewer revenue bond ordinance was repealed by the council on September 21, 1934, with a view in mind of educating the public to the necessity of a sewer disposal plant.

On Nov. 10, 1934 Harold L. Ickes, administrator of the PWA, wrote a letter to the mayor of the city of Dixon in which he advised him that on July 26, 1934, he had mailed a contract for a loan and grant in the amount of $285,000 for the construction of the proposed sewerage system, and that the appropriation made by Congress for such work was exhausted; that he could not permit such retardment of the recovery program as was involved in the failure of appellant city to execute and return the contract referred to. The mayor was advised in this letter that unless the above contract, properly executed, was received by Mr. Ickes within 10 days from Nov. 10, 1934, the action to rescind the loan and grant would be taken.

Contract Mailed

Following receipt of this letter, the mayor on Nov. 19, 1934, wired the P. W. A. that he was mailing the contract referred to in the foregoing letter, and that the same was duly executed. On the date of the telegram, Nov. 19, 1934, the contract of loan and grant, properly executed by the city, through its officers, was mailed to the P. W. A. at Washington.

Nothing further appears to have transpired with respect to the proposed improvement, except interchange of letters between the city administration and the PWA until on Feb. 6, 1935, when the PWA advised the city through its city attorney that the allotment previously made for the proposed work was rescinded, but that should the city desire to reinstate its application at a later date, the same would be considered without prejudice.

In the spring of 1935, a new city administration took office. Under the new administration the application of the city was reinstated and another loan granted. The new administration entered into a contract with another firm of engineers and another set of plans, specifications and estimates were prepared by the new engineering firm. The proposal for issuance of bond was submitted and carried. The proposed sewerage system was installed upon the second venture at a total cost of $293,633.80, of which 45 per cent was a PWA grant and the balance thereof covered by the bond issue as voted by the citizens.

Forms of Proposal

Under the proposal as submitted by appellee relative to the installation of the sewerage plant, appellee was to receive as its pay, three per cent of the contract cost of the work for the plans, surveys, specifications and estimates, which was work to be done prior to installation, and two per cent of the final cost of the work for supervision and inspection of the construction. Appellee brought this suit seeking recovery upon its contract, claiming that it had stood by ready and willing at all times to go forward with the work it had contracted to do for and on behalf of said city, but that it was not permitted to do the work.

It appears that the appellee expended in wages the sum of $3,994.93, in the preparation of its survey, report, plans, specifications, estimates and data relative to the proposed work; that in addition to this it incurred $1,264.98 other expenses. The case was tried by a jury and a verdict in favor of the appellee for $3,000. At the close of the plaintiff's evidence, appellant moved for an instructed verdict, which motion was overruled. Appellant's evidence consisted of certain exhibits and the testimony of Mr. Gannon, city attorney.

Accepted Work

Appellant urges that appellee cannot recover because under the contract it was to receive its remuneration from a special fund and that such fund was not lost because of any negligence or wrongful conduct on the part of the appellant. The city entered into the contract with appellee, accepted the benefits of the work done, and upon the report, plans, specifications, estimates and data as prepared by appellee secured the PWA grant which would have enabled it to do the work. It passed the necessary ordinances relative to the doing of the work. It voluntarily repealed these ordinances at a later date and through its delay produced such a "retardment of the recovery program" as to cause the PWA to rescind the allotment or loan made for this project. According to the letter of the letter Mr. Ickes the contract for the loan was mailed to the appellant on July 26, 1934. Here it remained unacted upon until Nov. 19, 1934, when pursuant to the letter above referred to, the mayor wired that the contract had been signed and returned to the PWA accepted the grant for this work.

At this time the sewer revenue bond ordinance and the rate ordinance had both been repealed and no ordinance at that time had been enacted to take their place. Subsequently and on Feb. 6, 1935, through the continued inaction of the appellant, the grant was finally rescinded and cancelled. Appellee had no control over the action of the city council with regard to the above matters. It performed its services as far as possible and they were accepted both by appellant and the PWA. It is generally considered that where a project of this character is not carried to completion because of the abandonment of the proposed work by the municipality, that it cannot avoid payment by setting up the contingent nature of the contract and that such expense was to be paid from special tax or special fund, but the city will be held liable out of the general fund.

Appellant objects to appellee's given instruction. Only one instruction was offered by appellee. It is directed toward recovery based upon a quantum meruit and from an examination thereof we discover no error in the instruction.

Make Plans to Feed Americans in Case of War

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—

Leaders of agricultural and food processing and distributing industries were working with administration officials today on plans to assure ample food supplies at reasonable prices should the United States become involved in war.

Taking the lead in formulating the program was the agricultural advisory council, created recently by Secretary Wallace at President Roosevelt's suggestion. The council is composed of about 30 representatives of the grocery, milling, clothing, meat packing, banking, transportation and labor groups.

The key to the emergency plans, spokesmen said, will be "complete cooperation between government and various phases of the clothing and food industries."

At the same time a justice department official said a policy of "potential enforcement" of anti-trust laws would be used to combat profiteering in foodstuffs as a result of the present European conflict.

This official, declaring the justice department has been receiving about 250 complaints a day, made it clear, however, that prosecutions would be started wherever warranted.

Meanwhile, an agriculture department official disclosed that a survey of about 700 complaints showed that housewives led the list of those sending in protests.

Regions from which complaints were heaviest were the middle Atlantic and New England states, the Great Lakes industrial area, the south central and Pacific coast states.

The 48 states collected $627,000, 000 in revenue through motor fuel taxes in 1937.

Farewell Parties Crowd Calendar of John Weiss Family

Mr. and Mrs. John Weiss and their three children, Patricia, Jean, and Jack, are finding their last days in Dixon extremely busy ones. In addition to packing and completing preparations for moving to a new home in Urbana, their presence as guests of honor at numerous farewell courtesies occupies more and more of their time as the date for the family's departure from the city on Tuesday draws near.

Little Jean Weiss was the special guest at a dinner party planned last evening by Mrs. Elwin Bunnell and her young daughter, Elsie May. Four of Jean's neighborhood playmates, who also attend North Central school together, attended, including Beverly Billinger, Pauline Gordon, Donna Jean Weitzel and Elsie May.

While Jean was being entertained at the Bunnell home, her sister, Patricia, was being complimented at a chili supper arranged by two girls' classes from the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school and their teachers, the Misses Lorraine Hull and Stella Smith. The party guests, who presented Patricia with an attractive ring in remembrance of the occasion, were entertained at Miss Hull's home on Galena avenue. Dorothy Olds and Barbara Hoon received prizes in bunco.

In the crowd were Patricia Weiss, Patricia Moore, Dorothy Olds, Lucille Kells, Barbara Hoon, Nancy Hoon, Ada Kirk, Marilyn Smith, Alma June Herridge, Miriam Kitson, Virginia Moeller, Frances Stultz, Constance Bunnell, Phyllis Hanchette, and the class teachers.

At the A. C. Bowers home, Donald Bowers was hosting at dinner for the Weiss' son, Jack. Ten guests, including eighth grade students at the North Central school and Dixon high school freshmen, circled the party table. A miniature baseball diamond was a novel center decoration, and favors were baseball placecards.

After dinner, a series of games was suggested as pastime. A fountain pen was the group's gift for the honor guest.

Making up the party were Don Edwards, Tommy Van Nuys, Dean Wentling, Teddy Mason, Bill Goff, Don Emmert, Richard Gordon, Bob Popma, Jack Weiss, and Donald Bowers.

Yesterday noon saw a bridge group, with whom Mrs. Weiss has been playing contract, having luncheon together as guests of Mrs. D. C. Bryant at the Bryant cottage on the Rock river. Tables were formed for card games, after the luncheon.

Last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Weiss were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Gehant at the Faust hotel in Rockford. Mrs. Raymond Worsley has made reservations for a luncheon party in Rockford tomorrow for Mrs. Weiss, and tomorrow evening, Dixon teachers will be entertaining at dinner in Lowell park for Mr. and Mrs. Weiss.

Mr. Weiss, who has been vocational agriculture teacher at Dixon high school for the past 18 years, has accepted the position of supervisor of agricultural practice teachers in the University of Illinois college of education.

European Traveler to Speak in Dixon

A speaker with extraordinary insight into the lives of the people in the countries he has visited will address the combined Domestic Science clubs and the Farmers' Institute at their annual meeting Friday evening in St. Paul's Lutheran church. He is Dr. Albert A. Vail, of Brownstown, Ill., European traveler, linguist, and lecturer.

Dr. Vail, who was educated at Urban university in Rome, Italy, studied, taught and traveled in Europe for six years. He has met and lived with all classes of people—from peasant to king—studying in detail the customs and modes of living, the social and economic conditions in each country. Hence, he speaks authoritatively of European conditions and situations of world interest today.

Six years of life under the European dictators brought to Dr. Vail a deep appreciation of American democracy, with its inherent personal freedom, and his lectures are presented with the force of actual knowledge and experience.

The Domestic Science clubs have planned an all-day program, including a canning demonstration and lectures by outstanding speakers.

The first Evangelical church in Forreston was erected in 1870 at a cost of $6,800, and was called the "Bishop's church," in honor of Mrs. Schildberg's great-grandfather, Bishop Joseph Long, another early pioneer.

Wednesday, Sept. 27, is the date which women of the South Dixon Community club have chosen for their annual tour. A steak fry at Krape park, Freeport, is to be a highlight of the day's outing.

Plans for the pilgrimage were discussed at yesterday's meeting of the club at Mrs. Norman Miller's home. Mrs. Carl Blum conducted the business meeting, which was preceded by group singing, led by Mrs. Noah Beard, with Mrs. Day Welty at the piano. "My Favorite Autumn Recipe" was the theme for roll call.

Six of the members were unwrapping birthday remembrances from their club "pals." Those honored were Mesdames Belle Mumford, Day Welty, William Remmers, Isabel Levan, Harry Carson, and John Patterson. Mrs. Mumford and Mrs. Remmers received prizes in the afternoon's games.

Mrs. Isabel Levan is to entertain on Oct. 18.

DILEMMA OF CONGRESS

Congress convenes tomorrow in special session called by President Roosevelt to consider revision or repeal of the law enacted in time of peace to keep us out of a much-feared European war. Leaving home, legislators have had dinner into their ears the demand: "Keep us out of war!"

Arriving at Washington the same legislators will listen to the request: "Help the democracies by every means short of war." It will mean that, no matter how musical it sounds.

So congressmen will have the duty of reconciling the two demands. They will be expected to help the democracies, but to sidestep so agilely that although we help the democracies, we must in no wise be drawn into the fight. Historians may be able to show how some nation in the past has been able to help one of two warring neighbors without incurring the anger of the one not assisted. The facts would be useful as a pattern for American guidance in this situation.

We believe the American people like to call a spade a spade. We believe they like to meet issues not disguised as something else. They like to meet issues head-on, and dispose of them in the light of experience. At present Mr. Roosevelt has confused the issues, so that help for the democracies comes clothed as "true neutrality."

By following the President's proposal, as Mr. Borah says, we can be "drawn into" the European war. First, we might sell arms to the allies for cash and build up an important and highly profitable armament export business. But England and France, assuming the war lasts that long, will be able to pay cash only about a year and a half. So then we might be asked for credit. Being on record in favor of opposing fascist aggression by every means "short of war," we would be in a queer position to refuse to "charge it." Could we revert to a policy of helping fascism merely because we couldn't get our "bloody money?" Both England and France would be hating Shylock and his pound of flesh at our heads again.

In case we should extend credit we would then have a direct financial interest in an allied victory on the grounds that if they were defeated we would lose our investment. When the European magnet becomes strong enough to attract both American hearts and pocketbooks, the outcome is certain.

Under existing circumstances most responsible persons would hesitate about urging some one else to go and fight. We would hesitate to preach a crusade against Germany's forts knowing that hundreds of thousands, perhaps a million American lads would not come back from that campaign, or would come back crippled, mentally out of adjustment and handicapped in the further struggle for existence.

What we abhor particularly is the prospect of being "drawn into" war after the fashion of a traveler trapped in quicksand. We would prefer the direct proposition and the direct answer. We prefer to go to war knowingly if at all, with a population united in common determination; we grieve at being placed in the position of war in the name of neutrality.

One imagines that certain political interests are trying to rush the slow process of public thinking. After a while the popular mind will be molded by events into a certain pattern. If action is forced before the public mind has had time to tell we might become confused either in a determination to make war or remain at peace. Neither situation is tolerable.

The public should study carefully the debates forthcoming at Washington. A freshman congressman said recently he could not say in advance how he would vote on the neutrality bill's changes because he did not know how the bill would be written. He also desired to hear from more experienced legislators.

Meanwhile, as Stephen Decatur said: "My country! In her intercourse with foreign nations, may she always be right! But my country, right or wrong!"

IRONY OF WAR

The French advance into the Saar presents one of those ironies with which war is filled.

The Saar is the only territory added to the Third Reich by Fuehrer Hitler in a legal and peaceful manner. The Versailles settlement provided a plebiscite in the Saar, by which the inhabitants were to decide whether they wished to adhere to Germany or France. The plebiscite, handled by the League of Nations, and policed by British war veterans in mufti, was orderly and correct. In a peaceful and orderly manner, a model procedure for handling a difficult problem of jurisdiction, the Saar voted to go back to Germany. And the French abided by the decision.

Now this single example of peaceful and orderly agrandizement of the Third Reich is the first territory to fall to French bayonets, simply because Hitler's later agrandizements departed so far from the orderly internationalism set by the Saar procedure. That's war's irony.

NO CENSORSHIP

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early has clarified his statement that the President does not intend to impose any censorship of press or radio "for the present at least." He meant, Early explained later, "unless the United States goes to war."

Well, that makes it clear. Everybody already understood that in case of war all the accustomed liberties of free speech and the free printed word, as well as a lot of others, would go down the drain.

The assurance that there are no such plans at present is good. But with the eternal vigilance that is the price of liberty, Americans will do well to watch closely for any infringement on it. Meanwhile, they can do much to prevent consideration of any such steps by accepting the responsibilities of speech and print and using neither for unneutral purposes. No matter what individuals think within themselves, the country is neutral, and unneutral action ought to be encouraged by no one.

HOBSON'S CHOICE

A judge in a minor Montreal court has been reported as giving prisoners convicted of small offenses the choice of enlisting in the army or going to jail.

Does that seem a curious way to administer justice? Perhaps, but it differs not at all from many things that were done when the United States went into the World War in 1917. The same sort of thing happened here time and time again, and will always happen when a nation goes to war.

When war comes storming in the door, reason flies out the window. Once out, the bird is shy and very hard to entice back in again.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Sept. 20 — This much the British know about the German submarine which is undermining their might upon the seas:

The Germans have between 75 and 100 (not 20 to 25, not 66 as previously reported.) These craft can stay out unattended about three weeks at the most, by maneuvering around at slowest cruising speed. Most have 18 to 20 torpedoes and 6 tubes from which to fire. But so far they have been conserving torpedoes by shelling ships to the bottom with their surface gun wherever possible.

Their activity has been concentrated almost entirely off the coasts of the British Isles. (British have stopped giving out exact locations of their losses and in fact have not publicly reported some of their losses.) Reports that Hitler's subs have been sighted in the Pacific are considered absurd. None are believed to be in the South Atlantic.

The subs can be refueled easily nearly anywhere they can come in contact with Diesel oil. No more equipment than a garden hose is necessary. If supply ships have no pumps, siphoning will do the trick.

The subs are not being refueled by warships and will not be. Entire German fleet is accounted for, looked behind the mines protecting Wilhelmshaven and at the entrances to the Kiel Canal. There is evidence of refueling from merchant supply ships strategically placed before the war, probably in remote Iceland and Norway fjords.

Some subs have been slipping out of Wilhelmshaven into the Atlantic through the upper outlet of the North Sea. Mining of this outlet is a tremendous job and has not yet been completed by the British. However, they have closed up the Baltic. None are coming from there.

These circumstances make it difficult for the British to break up the attack, but it can be done. They hope for some letup when the three weeks cruising period is up, and more when they can complete the mining of the northern outlet of the North Sea.

Intensive activity brought allied submarine losses in the last year of the war down to the point where it was trivial, and the same result is confidently expected again, but not soon.

Officialdom had been forewarned about Russia's step into the picture among the leading world aggressors, but naturally hesitated to believe it. (See column of Tuesday, September 12.) Stalin's deal with Hitler was then reported to have contained a secret map partitioning Poland.

Since then officialdom has been informed the deal called further for creation of two buffer states in Poland, one around Warsaw and the second in the Carpathians. Both were to be under German domination and the German line was to run just east of Grudziadz, Lodz and Krakow.

The Russian line was to run from Ventspils, the Baltic port on the Latvian coast, nearly straight east below the Dvina river, then curve south near the present Lithuanian-Russian border, down west of Wilno, Kowel and Brody to the present Polish-Rumanian frontier at the Dniester river, thence down the Prut river to the mouth of the Danube.

That was related as the price Hitler paid for Stalin's acquiescence in the conquest of Poland. It was also to be the price of peace he would offer Britain and France after his last accomplishment.

Most disturbing was the implication in the deal that Rumania is next. Confidence that she might stand up against Hitler has been diminishing constantly since the Rumanian foreign minister was discovered last week in Berlin. The current impression here is that Rumania would fall without a fight, might be glad to escape with the loss of Bessarabia.

Then official eyes have begun to look even beyond Rumania in view of the Russian-Turkish negotiations. If Turkey joined the aggressors, Greece would fall to her. The possibilities thereafter become limitless and unbelievable.

The Russian step therefore has caused a readjustment of all inner considerations here. The possible effect on the foreign policy discussion opening Thursday in Congress has been reexplored in all official imaginations. For instance there is the chance that a cash-and-carry or international law policy might be given a new meaning if Germany finds a door to the outside world in Russia. Japan or the Mediterranean (guarded by Mussolini's neutrality.)

Only one decision was immediately unanimous, namely that the time has come for everyone to believe only what he sees—and then only after he looks twice.

After A Man's Heart

By JEAN RANDALL

Yesterday, Lance Carroll draws Tim out of his shell. The friend-ship helps Tim's standing in Boulder. After her parents leave, Buff enters into an active social life.

Chapter 15

Buff's cozy apartment was filled with a laughing group of young people. Van, one of Buff's girlfriends, aroused Tim's disapproval at once.

"What do you do?" Tim asked him.

"I model in soap."

"You—what?"

"Model in soap. It's one of the newer arts. Soap is a softer medium than marble and though this shouldn't be taken into consideration—less expensive. I'm doing a rather good thing of Buff now, three inches high, full length."

"Does she know it?"

"The artist shook his head. 'My dear, no, and I hope you won't tell her; it ruins spontaneity to have the model conscious of posing. Here a little and there a little, and up goes the arm one day, her ankles another.'

Tim found the idea of this person's concern with Buff's ankles singularly repellent.

"What," he demanded, "shall you do with your figure when it's completed?"

"Sell it. Oh, I always sell my things," he went on cheerfully.

"Not for anything like their true value, of course, but even a sculptor must eat. There's a gift shop in town which handles my work with some profit to us both."

"And how much do you expect to get for this—this masterpiece?"

"Dollar and eighty cents," sighed Van. The artist takes the rest as his commission."

"Not this one!" Tim spoke sharply. "So far as any figures of Miss Carroll are concerned, they're already sold to me."

The artist and Van had his finger hooked into his hair, increasing his appearance of artistic dishevelment.

"Opens a nice little avenue for blackmail, if you get me! But Art comes first with me always. I execute your commissions—oh, joy and gladness, at last I'm using that longed-for combination of words! I have to know what you will do with the figures."

"Disposal, I'm in water!"

Van shook his head. "There goes a weekly payment on my grocery bill," was his mournful comment. "I was afraid you were like that. D'you think I'm going to toil with skill and a saving to have you have your commissions—oh, joy and gladness, at last I'm using that longed-for combination of words! I have to know what you will do with the figures."

"Then I'll keep 'em," Tim promised recklessly. "Not more than one a week, however, and aside from not destroying 'em, it's none of your business what I do with 'em. Is that perfectly clear?"

"Perfectly," Van scrambled to his feet and raised his voice, waving a long arm toward the ceiling. "Tim, I've decided to send you a weekly commission from him—perfectly. On the strength of funds to come I invite you all to eat scrambled eggs and saltines with me next Saturday night. I knew if I held on long enough success would surely come!"

Tim, feeling as though he had borne as much of this sort of thing as he could, departed abruptly.

In a few days a small box was delivered at his boardinghouse. It was plastered with labels, warning all beholders that it was "Fragile," "Perishable," "Breakable," but its flimsy container was little or no protection to the figure within. Tim took it out and viewed it carefully, hoping or fearing that several serious accidents on route accounted for its appearance. If it was as it had left the creators hands, then Tim was paying two perfectly good dolls a week for practically nothing at all; for by no stretch of the imagination could Buff be recognized in the weird object thus disclosed. Beyond the fact that it was female and presumably human, it looked like nothing on earth.

"Booby Prize!"

Weekes came in and found him staring at it.

"Booby Prize at a baby party?" was his cheerful inquiry. "Soap, isn't it? I don't advise using it. Tim, you might cut yourself on all those sharp lines."

Tim not it on his closet shelf. "I think you're right, George. Don't be surprised. I've decided to use it. It's my way of contributing to the Community Chest, that's all."

He took occasion to make a tour of the gift shops in the town. In a window he found several of the same thing. Even while his surprised gaze rested on the display, clerks hand withdrew the most hideous. Presently a woman came out, bearing triumphantly a parcel which Tim was sure contained one of the Van-Lander masterpieces.

Tim wandered away in a trance.

"That makes three dollars and eighty cents he's earned," came good Lord. "This week, I suppose, he'll be able to order. It will give several parties. And I thought Buff was a sensible girl!"

Sheer curiosity took him back to see her a few days later. He approached the subject of Van-Lander cautiously.

"I met an artist here last week," he told her. "Have you seen any of his work?"

He was invited to hear her deny it. "I don't look up to his apartment to see a display of it, but I've been too busy to go. He says he's very successful, however. A sudden thought occurred to her. 'Didn't I hear him announcing that he was going to patron? You must have been very favorably impressed by his work!'"

Tim found himself in a dilemma. If he told her he was buying Van's productions in order to cushion opening Thursday in Congress has been reexplored in all official imaginations. For instance there is the chance that a cash-and-carry or international law policy might be given a new meaning if Germany finds a door to the outside world in Russia. Japan or the Mediterranean (guarded by Mussolini's neutrality.)

Only one decision was immediately unanimous, namely that the time has come for everyone to believe only what he sees—and then only after he looks twice.

"I ordered some of his things before I saw them," he said at last. "I had a reason for doing it. I wish now I hadn't. They're beyond words."

"How d'you mean—beyond words?" She was curled in a deep chair one foot under her, her chin propped on her hand. She asked the question with interest.

"They're like something a backward four-year-old might do if you encouraged him sufficiently. I . . . was led to believe they were otherwise."

Buff grinned at him. "Tim dear, you do need me, don't you realize it? What you're trying to say is that Van told you he was doing me, and intending to display the figures in a shop window. So you came nobly to my rescue by buying up in advance anything he chooses to whistle. You're simply putting a premium on that sort of silliness. Suppose a couple of water colorists—and heaven knows the place is full of 'em!—confide to you that they're doing a profile, full face, or figure of me and intend to show their wares in a prominent place. Shall you immediately corner the market on all possible Buffs?"

"Male Clinging Vine!"

He muttered incoherently, once more thinking himself the world's worst idiot.

She said briskly, "I'll speak to Van myself! Hush, I shall, too! After all, you were my guest and he took advantage of you."

Tim's jaw squared. "Still bent on taking care of me, are you, Buff? I hoped you'd forgotten that foolish idea."

She put on her softest and most feminine expression.

"Tim, there's a gadget to the stove that neither Mrs. Webb nor I can understand. Personally, I'd just ignore it, but Webby feels we'll be blown up in our beds some night. I wonder if you'd look at it and try to figure out what it's for."

Presently he was tinkering happily with an oven thermometer which had temporarily forgotten its duties. By the time he had adjusted it, dinner was ready and Webby had set a place for him.

For one reason and another, he drifted into the habit of dining with Buff at least once a week, sometimes oftener. George usually accepted the invitation for him. Also Tim could not quite rid himself of his artistic responsibility for this young girl who was staying in Boulder because of him, and had surrounded herself with a group of young people about whom he was a trifle dubious.

"That's all right, George," said thoughtfully one evening as they were driving out to Buff's. "He practically lives there, did you know it? He's a fool and Buff knows it; but he's leaning so hard on her that she's going all maternal and protective about him. She's a set-up for the male clinging vine. I wish we could think of some way to give him the gate."

Somewhat this anxiety on the part of the usually cheerful Weekes upset Tim. He remembered that Van had either been departing or arriving for the last half dozen times Tim himself had called. It was true that Buff had stopped what she called "Van's soapy sales" to the engineer. Van apparently harbored no resentment toward what he had counted on as a steady source of income. He remarked casually that he had sold three Buffs, and the object of his artistic achievement gave Tim a reassuring nod.

"I've seen 'em," she said. "No body could possibly recognize me. In fact one of 'em looks like the sheeted dead, the other two like a Cubist's nightmare. Rest easy, Tim."

"What's it to Tim?" Van inquired casually. "You two engaged, or something?"

"It amounts to that," Buff said.

Which was why the paper next evening had a none-too-subtle paragraph to the effect that no Boulder swain need exert himself to woo the talented and charming visitor to their fair city since her affections were already engaged.

Continued tomorrow.

Over 400 Inspected Model Home in Dixon

Over four hundred visitors last Sunday inspected the model home erected at 1117 South Ottawa avenue. The home was built by the Federated Construction Bureau, a syndicate of contractors that has built over 90 homes in northern Illinois in the past three years. The model home is of Cape Cod design and is 24x38 over-all. The exterior is white trimmed in blue. The walls are of tinted sand finish on reinforced metal laths. The floors are hardwood. There are two bedrooms both 10'x12', furnishing ample room for the average family.

S. M. Stebbings, manager of the Federated Construction Bureau says the house is insulated throughout. The basement is built on the modern conception of utilizing basement rooms for recreation or dining rooms, etc., rather than just dark and dingy space for extra storage space. The home is heated by a Lennox Air-conditioned oil burner. There is also a hot water heater. In addition to the dining and recreation rooms in the basement there is also a small room which may be used for storage or for an extra toilet.

The home has been completely furnished by the Mellott Furniture Co.; decorating was done by Glenn Pelton; sheet metal work by Slothover Tin Shop; kitchen furnished by Cahill Electric Shop and the Peterson Appliance Co.; plumbing and heating by Frank Schuldt and Clifford Kime; paints by Vandenberg Paint Co.; landscaping by Zuend & Yohse.

The home was built according to FHA specifications and can be purchased under the easy terms of the FHA.

A bottle thrown from the steamer Birmingham, off the coast of Mexico, was picked up 8000 miles away, across the Pacific, less than two years later.

FRENCH REBUFF

HITLER'S HIDE-PEACE BID

Cabinet Announces Determination to Carry On to Victory

Paris, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The French cabinet today proclaimed its determination to "carry on the war to definite victory."

A communique issued after a three-hour meeting at the Elysee palace under President Lebrun also declared the union of France and Great Britain was "closer daily" and promised that Poland would be awarded "in common victory."

The meeting was the cabinet's first since Premier Daladier formed a war government on September 13.

The communique, without mentioning Adolf Hitler directly, served as the French reply to the fuhrer's speech yesterday at Danzig.

The text of the communique:

Text of Communique
The ministers met this morning in council at Elysee palace under the presidency of M. Albert Lebrun.

"M. Edouard Daladier, president of the council, gave an amply documented account of the entire military and diplomatic situation.

"Adopting unanimously the conclusions of this account, the cabinet paid homage to the heroism of Poland, which will find in common victory the just redress of the right.

"It approved military, economic and financial measures destined to carry on the war to definite victory.

"It reaffirmed with this intention the solidarity, closer daily, of France and Great Britain."

On Belgian Border
Scattered fighting, meanwhile, occurred along France's north-eastern frontier as French military leaders studied reports that German troops were massing near Aachen, opposite the eastern frontier of Belgium, through which country the Germans marched in 1914.

It was noted that Aachen was not on any direct route to the front where the French and Germans are now fighting.

A major Nazi offensive was expected with the arrival of troops released from the campaign in Poland.

Official reports on the progress of hostilities claimed minor successes and voiced satisfaction with operations on the naval front. A semi-official announcement said "four or five" German submarines had been sunk by French warships—these in addition to a U-boat destroyed Monday night.

A French general staff communique last night reported a German attack had been turned back "east of the Blies river."

The eggs of sturgeons are not taken for caviar when the female is ready to spawn, but at an earlier period, when the roe is hard. A large female may yield as much as 15 gallons, or 2,400,000 eggs. Because the sturgeon is such a valuable prize, it is becoming very rare.

Four more times during the present century will there be dates with all odd, unduplicated figures: 1953, 1957, 1973 and 1975. Then there will be a period of 1182 years before it again occurs.

HOLD EVERYTHING!

"Y better come back tomorrow. . . Too much static!"

Daily Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Football is the most hazardous of college sports.

Records during one school year showed that in 22 universities and colleges among 44,000 participants in athletics, there were 694 football injuries; 166 baseball injuries; 130 basketball; 80 wrestling; 74 boxing, and 73 track and field injuries. Football had by far the greater number of injuries, even though there were 9626 playing basketball as compared with 5400 in football.

Most important in preparation for any kind of game, but particularly for football, is a suitable physical examination of the participant. The examiner must find out what diseases the player has had previously.

Certain diseases, like scarlet fever, disturb the kidneys. Repeated infections of the throat are associated not rarely with disturbances of the heart. Tuberculosis in a mild form may not be visible or easy to detect, yet if a person with beginning tuberculosis undertakes to play football, he may bring about damage that may incapacitate him for life or even kill him.

Chief attention is always centered on the heart. There are many simple tests of the efficiency of this organ. The simplest are those which test the rate of the heart when the person is lying down or standing up, and which measure the length of the time that is required for the heart to return to its normal rate after slight exercise.

An increase in the rate of the heart after exercise and a reasonably prompt return to normal after the exercise is stopped indicate that the heart functions fairly well. If there is a long delay in the return to the normal rate, special study must be given to the efficiency of the heart.

Football requires more pre-season training than almost any other sport except long distance running. Wind and endurance are developed only by repeated exercising day after day, the period of exercise being gradually increased as well as its intensity.

Many men lose from 1½ to 3 pounds during a game of golf. It is said that football players may lose from 7 to 10 pounds during a game. A man in good condition tends to regain his weight during 24 hours. If a player fails to regain his weight within a reasonable time and is constantly dropping away from his best weight, he certainly needs a physical examination to determine whether or not he is in condition to participate in such a strenuous game.

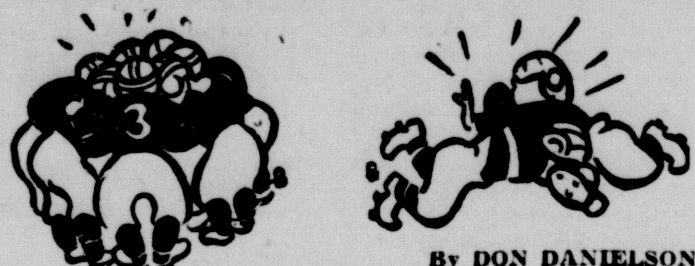

Lucy Idella Peabody Dies in Oregon Home

Oregon, Sept. 20.—Funeral services for Miss Lucy Idella Peabody, who was found dead in bed Tuesday morning at her home, 401 North 4th street, following a heart attack, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the home. The Rev. A. R. Bickenback, retired pastor of Presbyterian church, will officiate and burial will be in Lighthouse cemetery, southeast of Oregon.

Miss Peabody, a daughter of Frederick and Rachael Stewart Peabody, was born in Nashua township, Ogle county. She attended Nashua district and Oregon public schools and Western college, Oxford, O., where her aunt, the late Miss Helen Peabody, served as president for many years.

She was associated with Fremont, Neb., schools for several years. Fifteen years ago she returned to Oregon to care for her sister, the late Mrs. Helen Anstine. After her death a number of years ago Miss Peabody remained here to make her home with two other sisters, Mrs. Sarah Snyder and Miss Grace Peabody, both of whom survive.

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

WANNA SEE THE SERIES?

Dixon baseball fans may have an opportunity to witness the Sunday game of the Chicago City Series via an excursion plan. The Telegraph is contemplating co-operation with the Chicago & Northwestern railroad and Sox management to make possible an excursion on this occasion.

R. E. Williams of the Northwestern passenger department discussed the possibility of an excursion to Chicago for the Sox-Cubs Sunday game. A special low excursion rate will be provided in the event that local fans desire to take advantage of such an outing to which would be added the price of a grandstand seat at Comiskey Park. It was suggested that a round trip fare of two dollars would be possible in the event that 150 or more fans cared to take advantage of the trip.

The tentative schedule provides for leaving Dixon Sunday morning at 6:27, arriving in Chicago at 8:45. Returning, excursionists would be permitted to leave Chicago on the Corn King, leaving at 6:45 p. m., or those desiring after dinner entertainment would be accommodated on the train leaving at 10:20 and arriving in Dixon at 12:40.

The Telegraph sports department welcomes suggestions from fans who might be desirous of witnessing the Sunday game between the Sox and Cubs to determine the number interested in such an excursion. A block of grand stand seats will be reserved by the Northwestern passenger department and these tickets can be purchased together with the special train excursion ticket.

SPORT NEWS ON THE HOOF

That motorized unit going about the business district tonight with loud speakers turned on will not be a wartime warning of air raids and you needn't scurry for cover. Glenn Shaver, a manager of one of the local gas stations is planning to bring out his midget automobile with the loud speakers and re-broadcast the Louis-Pastor fight to the people downtown. Glenn will be touring the loop about 8:30 when the fight is scheduled to begin. Get your sport news on the hoof.

WISCONSIN TELLS DIXON

Wisconsin scribbles are writing (for local consumption): "The sophomores showed flashes of good football in the first test but almost without exception, were jittery at the start and it took most of them about half the game (Saturday scrimmage) to settle down and play the football of which they are capable. Boys like Bob Peterson, Bob Cone, Don Miller (of Dixon), Harold Rooney and Bob Wilding, all sophomore ball carriers, showed flashes of play which suggested how useful they can be, when steadied by experience but it was the veterans who really came through."

NEW CROP LOOMS UP TO ECLIPSE ALL-AMERICANS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

New York Sept. 20.—(AP)—Since the football season is at hand again, remember little Davey O'Brien, Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg, Parker (Bullet) Hall and Johnny Pingel?

They made up the all-America backfield last fall, and they'll probably be heard of again as heroes of play-for-pay football. But unless you follow the fortunes of the pros, it's likely you'll only see their names this fall prefaced by "as good as" or some similar comparative phrase.

There's a new crop of all-Americans in the making. You'll see and hear new names in place of that familiar quartet and the fellows who pressed them for top honors last fall—Bullet Billy Patterson, Sid Luckman, Vic Bottari, Bronco Brunner, Bob MacLeod and Howie Weiss, to name a few.

There's no use even trying, at this stage to pick the rising stars, but there were plenty of hints as the press releases rolled in.

No doubt, you'll hear a lot this fall about Len Eshmont, who as a Fordham sophomore last year carried the extra weight of such names as the "Rambling Ram," and the "Atlas Antelope."

Columbia's Contribution
Then Columbia offers Les Stanczyk, third of his clan to play for the lions, as the lad who'll make eastern fans forget Sid Luckman's passing.

Texas Christian already has picked the halfback to fill O'Brien's shoes. He's Jack Odle, hailed as being better than Davey or Sammy Baugh were at the same stage of their careers. Pitt has some backs, but not another Goldberg. It seemed unlikely Michigan State will produce another Pingel or "Ole Miss" another Hall, although Merle Hapes is trying his best at the latter job.

California boosters admit "Long Louie" Smith will be the best all-around halfback on the Pacific coast this year and a worthy successor to Bottari and Sam Chapman.

Some of the others who may catch the fancy of the fans are "Bolo" Perdue, the Duke end or Captain Allen (Sweet Pea) Johnson, "Bomber" Bill Hutchinson of Dartmouth, Harold Van Every of Minnesota, Jim (Sweet) Lalanne of North Carolina, or maybe one of that Notre Dame gang, Bob Saggau, Lou Zontini or Captain John Francis Kelley.

BY GAYLE TALBOT

Detroit, Sept. 20.—(AP)—After a lapse of nearly three years, Champion Joe Louis tonight resumes his chase after the little imp who once eluded him and injured his pride.

He and Bob Pastor meet at Briggs stadium, home of the Detroit Tigers, before a crowd expected to reach the 40,000 mark, and this time the feeling was that the big negro will catch and pulverize his quarry.

This time he will have 20 rounds in which to conquer his man, instead of the 10 they fought in Madison Square Garden before Louis became champion. He will have an advantage of about 15 pounds in weight, and he was a greater fighter in every respect than when free-wheeling Bob held him to a hollow decision.

Angry at Pastor

Louis has been angry at Pastor for nearly three years. He has felt all that time the New York boy made a sucker out of him, and he has yearned to get Bob in the ring with him again. And tonight, before the home folks, he finally gets his chance to close out that account. He fully intends to knock Pastor kicking in the first round. Bookmakers around town were offering odds of 7 to 1 against Pastor's chances, and doing practically no business at all.

Pastor does have a chance, of course. He is young, is an exceptionally clever boxer and hits pretty well. Last night, sitting around the hotel and talking, he said he thought he might knock Louis out. His manager, Jimmy Johnston, said it was a cinch.

He Hits Hard

But it is necessary to string along with Louis, in about two rounds. He hits terribly hard. The way Joe feels, he should hit Pastor this time. Perhaps he will get to him as quickly as he did to Max Schmeling, against whom he harbored a similar cold rage.

Pastor's hope lies in his ability to start fast and to keep clear of Joe's fists for dear life until such time as Joe tires a little, or perhaps becomes discouraged. There was a lot of feeling that if Pastor survived 10 rounds he will have a chance to win, because he really is a fine boxer. The fight is to be broadcast over WJZ-NEC starting at 8:30 P. M. (C.S.T.)

Bill Tilden is Back in U. S.: No Plans in Mind

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Big "T" man is in town, with no more idea where the next bounce will take him than one of those fur-bearing tennis balls he practically skins with every serve.

There is only one "T" in tennis, and he is William Tatem Tilden, the man who made big business out of a racket. He arrived on the United States liner Washington with several hundred other hurry-homers, firmly convinced two and one-half years abroad was enough, particularly when they start a war around you.

He looks about the same as when he left, or 15 years ago, for that matter.

And if he does say so himself, he never played better in his life than he's playing right now.

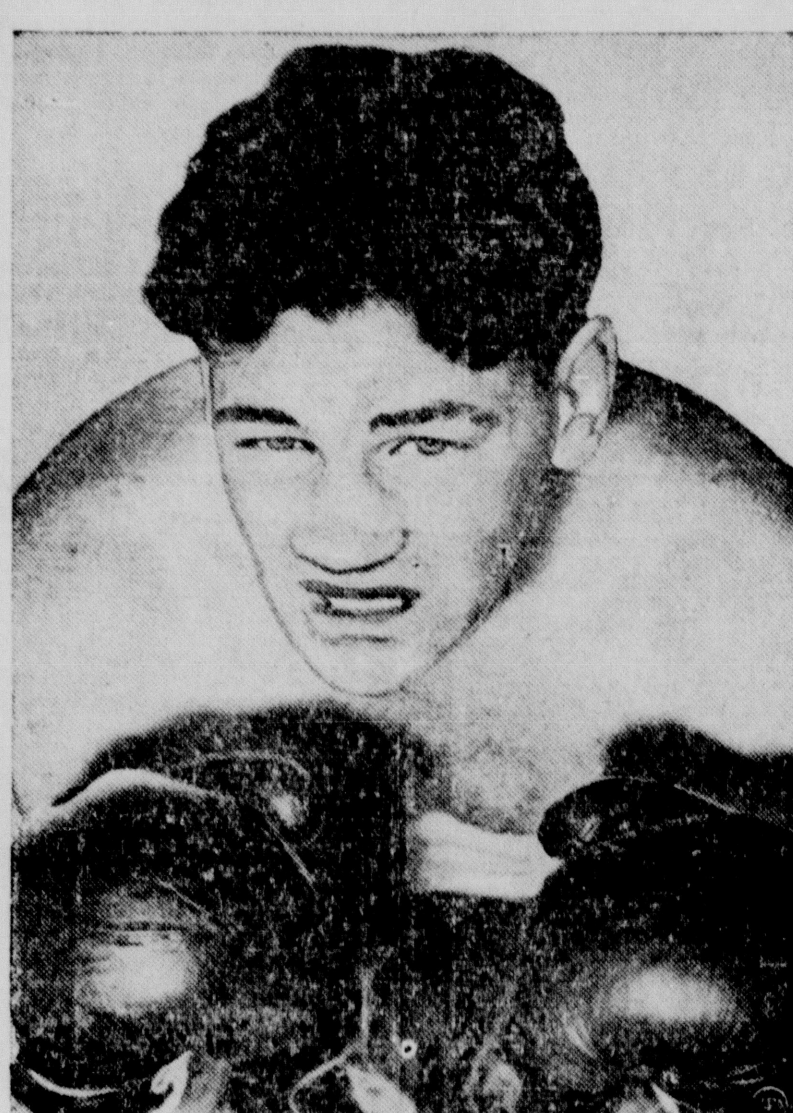

"We—Don Budge, Les Stofeen, Ellsworth Vines and I—played quite a bit in England, and also Paris, Bordeaux and Marseilles. Budge is the greatest player I ever saw. He has everything. I think I won two out of nine matches with him."

"We were planning to leave for South America last Thursday, to start our world tour, but decided it wasn't such a good idea for Americans to be world touring right now."

The tipping of the new tour plans has left the "T" man high and dry as to the immediate future.

"I'm here today, I don't know where I'll be tomorrow," he explained. "We haven't thought much about an American tour, but I suppose professional tennis will go on."

Cincinnati's Southpaw Situation is a Sorry One: Lose to Phillies, 13 to 1

BY BILL BONI

Associated Press Sports Writer
The accepted theory among big league managers in recent years has been that the best bet for stopping the New York Yankees is to feed them left-handers.

This theory has a certain amount of justification in the records. Since the Cincinnati Reds already are accepting ticket orders for next month's World Series, it almost must have entered the mind of Manager Bill McKeechie.

But how long it stayed there was something else again. When it comes to effective southpaws, Manager Bill is about as well-equipped as Poland is with submarines.

He tried to get by with one again yesterday, and the results were sad indeed. McKeechie called on Johnny Vander Meer to face the Phillies, but Double-No-Hit didn't face them long. He pitched to three men and filled the bases, threw three bad ones at the next batter, and promptly was through for the afternoon.

Phillies Drop Reds

So were the Reds. They never did get out of that hole, lost the ball game, 13-1, and since the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-1, had their first-place margin reduced to two and a half games.

The Cincinnati southpaw situation is a sorry one. Since Aug. 9, Vander Meer has been entrusted with a starting assignment only twice. Lefty Lee Grissom hasn't been any help, either. Grissom hasn't started a game in a month when the pressure on the Reds was heaviest.

CHICAGO BIGWIGS MEET WITH LANDIS TO DISCUSS SERIES

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—With pennant possibilities out for the American League White Sox and virtually out for the National League Cubs, representatives of the city rivals sat down today with K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, to work out City Series details.

The last Chicago City Series was won in 1937 by the Sox, in whose park the 1939 series was expected to open October 4.

The Cubs could win their 10 remaining games and still finish behind pace setting Cincinnati if the Reds won four.

INDIANAPOLIS TIES SERIES WITH LOUISVILLE COLONELS

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Thanks to the robust hitting of Left-Fielder Allen Hunt, the Indianapolis Indians today moved in to Louisville all even with the Colonels after two games of their American Association final playoff series.

Hunt was a one-man rally as the Tribe came back to win at Indianapolis last night, 3 to 1, after dropping the first playoff encounter the night before, 5 to 1.

His two doubles batted in all of Indianapolis' runs.

If the sun were a tennis ball, the earth could be represented by a grain of sand 23 feet away.

There is no set rule for determining the state of a dog's health by the temperature of his nose.

Further Worries

McKeechie has two further worries. His inner defenses are shot full of holes—17 errors in the last five games—and the batting punches is nothing to brag about.

The Cards got fine pitching yesterday from an unexpected source. Max Lanier, rookie southpaw who has been up before, gave Brooklyn five hits, while his mates pounded out 14 safeties to break the Dodgers' five-game winning streak and push them a notch deeper into fourth place.

That push was aided by the Chicago Cubs' 3-2 decision over the New York Giants, gained chiefly through Hank Leiber's homer, a wild pitch by Harry Gumbert that put the deciding run on base and another effective relief trick by old Charley Root.

Pirates Down Bees

In the other National League engagement, Paul Waner's triple and single ran his consecutive-game batting streak to 20 games, moved him into second place in the league hitting parade, and helped the Pittsburgh Pirates down the Boston Bees, 5-3.

The Champion Yanks notched their 100th victory, 6-2, over the Chicago White Sox, to top American League activities. The second-place Boston Red Sox improved their claim by beating the St. Louis Browns, 6-2. The Washington Senators nosed out the Cleveland Indians, 10-9, despite an Indian triple play. The Detroit Tigers whipped the Athletics, 8-4, with the aid of Hank Greenberg's 30th homer.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Max Lanier, Cards—His five-hit pitching enabled Redbirds to beat Brooklyn and cut in on Cincinnati lead.

Buddy Myer and Hal Quick, Senators—Their singles opened and topped off winning rally in 10-9 defeat of Indians.

Bob Elliott, Pirates—Rookie's homer with man on produced margin of victory over Bees.

Rudy York, Tigers—Singled in eighth with three on, to down the Athletics.

Gus Suhr and Walt Higbee, Phillies—Suhr's pair of doubles drove in four runs while Higbee held league leading Reds to six hits.

Roger Cramer, Red Sox—Led way to 6-2 decision over Browns with triple and two singles.

Charley Root, Cubs—Stopped Giants cold with three on, one in and one out to save Chicago 3-2 victory.

Oral Hildebrand, Yanks—Gave White Sox only three hits in first six innings and seven hits in last.

ON THE SIDE

EDDIE BRIETZ' ROUNDUP OF SPORTS GOSSIP

Detroit, Sept. 20.—(AP)—They're still figuring on a half million dollar business out here tonight. But if the gate hits $350,000 everybody will go home happy . . . Correction: Billy Conn (not Pastor) will be Lou Nova's next opponent and Chicago is being talked for next Summer's Galento-Louis meeting . . . Hank Greenburg positively will not be sold to the Yanks. The Tigers may sell or trade Rudy York this winter, but he won't go to New York, either.

Three-Star Special

Joe Louis will try to make a mends for that last fight by tagging Pastor as soon as he can tonight . . . Bob may get through the first round, but if he lasts out the second it will be a surprise and if he is on deck for the fourth, it'll be a miracle . . . (no extra charge for this).

Death of that high school football player down at China Grove, N. C., has upset the whole town. Parents are mixing football for their sons and the team may have to cancel its schedule . . . We'll put a few smackers on this Van Horn kid in next year's championships if anybody is operating a winter tennis book . . . Best looking freshman heavyweight prospects are Patrick Edward Comiskey, Lee Savoldi and Alex Kettles. Johnny Paycheck has been lost in the scuffle.

Football Season at State Normal Begins Saturday

Normal, Ill.—September 23 will mark the official opening of the football season at Illinois State Normal university. On this date the Red Birds will tangle with the Cuiver-Stockton College of Canton, Mo., on the green of McCormick field in Normal. Following this encounter the Normal squad will travel to Plattville, Wis., where they will meet the much-touted state teachers college.

Returning to Normal on October 7, the State Normal Birds will meet their old rivals from Ypsilanti, Mich. Last year the Hurons came through in the closing minutes of play and defeated the Red Birds at Ypsilanti. The game this year promises to be a real battle.

The tilt with Macomb will take place on October 14 at Macomb, Normal ran wild against the Western team last year and ran a score of 19-0. The following week the red-jerseyed battlers will head for Charleston. There they will attempt to repeat the 19-0 victory of last year.

Homecoming

Homecoming will bring the battling team from Carbondale to the Normal campus with revenge in their hearts for the 6-0 defeat at the hands of Normal at their homecoming last year.

Elmhurst college will meet Normal on McCormick field November 4. I. S. N. U. met Elmhurst in the first game last fall and defeated them in a 7-6 struggle.

Armistice day will see the Normal gridders in the den of DeKalb. The Northern Professors dropped the Birds in a heartbreaker last year with a 2-0 score at McCormick field.

The age old struggle between the Green of the South and the Red of the North will be resumed on November 18 when Normal goes from one end of Franklin avenue in Normal to the other end of the same street in Bloomington to meet their traditional rivals at Wesleyan. These teams met twice last year, the first encounter ending in a 7-7 deadlock and the second in a 2-0 track meet for Wesleyan. This year things will be different—according to Red Bird public opinion.

Armed Aquitania Makes Port Safely

Under wraps, but ready for instant use, one of two 12-pound guns aboard the British liner Aquitania gives the passenger ship a warlike appearance as she comes into New York harbor. The zig-zag, submarine-evading course the Aquitania followed in its trans-Atlantic trip made use of guns unnecessary.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Boer Holiday Recalls Victory Over Zulus

EACH year, on Dec. 16, the Boers of South Africa celebrate "Dingaan's Day," commemorating the century-old oath of the Voortrekkers of 1838, that if God gave them victory over the Zulus, they would build a church and dedicate a day of thanksgiving.
That first "Dingaan's Day" was a crucial point in the history of the Dutch in South Africa. The Boers, fighting British anti-slavery laws, had begun, in 1835, their long trek across the veldt to new homes and new freedom in Natal and Transvaal. And in Natal they encountered Dingaan.
Dingaan was a Zulu chieftain, a formidable, crafty enemy. He had seized power after murdering his brother, organized his warriors into a powerful fighting force. Ruthlessly he massacred emigrants, checking their advance.
Then Andries Pretorius came to Natal, rallied the Boers, and set out with 464 men to wreak delayed vengeance upon the Zulus.
His force, entrenched on the banks of a small stream, now called the Blood river, was attacked on Dec. 16, 1838, by 12,000 warriors. After two hours, the Zulus retreated, leaving 3000 dead. But the battle of Blood river broke the menace of the Zulus in South Africa.
Hardships of the Great Trek are commemorated in the Union of South Africa stamp, above, rose and slate, of the Voortrekker series of 1938.

How Russian Invasion Put "Squeeze" on Poland

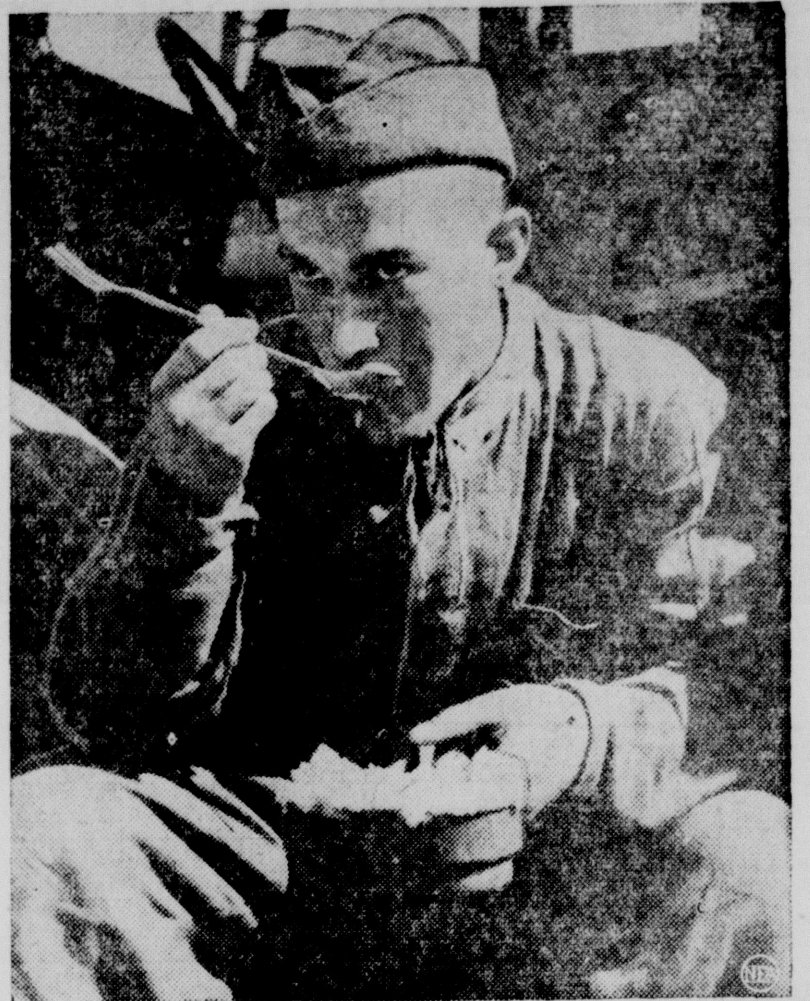

The map shows how Poland, overwhelmed by Germany on the west, was invaded from the east by the mighty Soviet war machine. Solid black indicates area held by Germans when Russia went into action. Russian troops were reported entering Poland along the 500-mile border (arrows) from Polotsk on the north to Kamenets Podolsk, near Rumania. Alleged reason for the invasion was "protection" of White Russian and Ukrainian minorities in Poland. Approximate areas these two groups occupy are indicated by cross-hatched and vertical shading.

War Can't Keep Movies Out of London

The war can't shut out the movies. The British ministry decided that it might even do the soldiers good to see Ginger Rogers occasionally, so re-opening has been permitted for this and other London movies in areas where there has been no evacuation.

CANADA ISSUES CALL FOR OVER-SEAS EXPEDITION

Volunteers to Aid Great Britain Asked; Two Divisions Wanted

Ottawa, Sept. 20 — (Canadian Press)—Canada summoned trained fliers today for immediate overseas duty and launched organization of a volunteer expeditionary force of 32,000 men to be available in event they were needed in the European war.

At the same time the government ordered doubling of the naval personnel and construction of "a large number of anti-submarine craft" as additional measures of cooperation with Britain.

The defense ministry said the expeditionary force would consist of two war-strength divisions of 16,000 men each.

They will be recruited by volunteers from the 50,000 men now under arms in Canada, the ministry explained. It was expected the first division would be ready for overseas service early in the new year.

Announcement of plans for expansion of the Dominion's naval forces disclosed Canada had been cooperating with the British navy in defense of Canadian ports and in convoy work off the coast.

While Canada stepped up its war preparations, a naval dockyard commander in Halifax, N. S., issued a statement "fairly reliable reports indicated a submarine may have been operating off the Nova Scotia coast."

Establish Credits
A Canadian destroyer engaged in a search for the suspected submarine, the commander said, and dropped a depth bomb "in a suspicious area."

The effect was not known. The government said it anticipated civilian pilots would cooperate with the Royal Canadian Air Force in meeting immediate demands for trained fliers abroad.

The first aid requested by Britain in answer to Canada's offer of assistance, a government statement said, was facilitation of purchases of essential war materials. To meet this request, the statement added, the first step will be establishment of credits here, probably involving "repatriation" of Canadian securities held in London.

A British government mission now is in Ottawa with authority to place orders for munitions and supplies.

Slain Youth's Mother Clears Death Mystery

Newton, Ill., Sept. 20—(AP)—State's Attorney Homer Kasserman today said the slaying of Clifford W. Ramey, 21, a WPA worker, during a hunting trip last Friday had been solved by written statements by the victim's mother, Effie, and Charles W. Kibler, with whom the Rameys lived.

Kasserman said Mrs. Ramey's statement said Kibler told her Sunday night he killed her son and that for three weeks Kibler had told her his death was the only means of Kibler's obtaining $600 to retire the mortgage on his home. The young man had $2,000 in insurance, payable to Mrs. Ramey.

Kibler, Kasserman said, admitted shooting the youth in his written statement but claimed self defense.

Mrs. Ramey, 51, and Kibler, 61, are held without charges, the lone occupants of the Jasper county jail here.

Alleged Slayers of H. S. Boy Start Defense

Danville, Ill., Sept. 20—(AP)—Defense attorneys called more witnesses today in behalf of Jake Sink and Thomas A. Lavinka of Danville, on trial in Circuit court on charges of murdering Robert Keys, 16, a high school boy of Attica, Ind., last May 19.

The defense began late yesterday after the state rested. Several prosecution witnesses testified Sink and Lavinka assaulted Keys in a fight outside a tavern in Belington, south of Danville.

Keys died in a hospital May 24 of injuries suffered in the fight. Shelly Nathan, 17, and Arthur Masterson of Attica, and Beverly Servies, 15, of Covington, Ind., friends of Keys, testified for the state that they saw the alleged beating.

The jury included eight men and four women, the first mixed jury in Vermillion county.

Dr. Jerry Kearns of Chicago, who performed an autopsy, testified Keys died of a traumatic hemorrhage following external violence to the head.

Child Pedestrian Fatalities Decline

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20—(AP)—The state highway division reported today that child pedestrian fatalities decreased from 118 during the 1934-35 school year to 67 last year.

Total motor vehicle deaths involving children between five and fourteen years old dropped during the same span from 156 to 102. Engineers attributed the reduction to safety education of children in the schools.

President's Message Will Be Broadcast

New York, Sept. 20—(AP)—President Roosevelt's message and opening of the special session of Congress to take up the neutrality question will go on the air Thursday.

The broadcast will be in two sections. Preliminary activities will be carried by MBS-chain at 10:45 A. M. CST, and WEAF-WJZ-NBC at 11 A. M.

The President's message is expected to begin at 1, with this part of the broadcast starting on WJZ-NBC, WABC-CBS and MBS at 12:45 and on WEAF-NBC at 1. Also, MBS plans to rebroadcast a recording of the message at 5:30.

Slayer of Sister of Fiancee Held to Jury

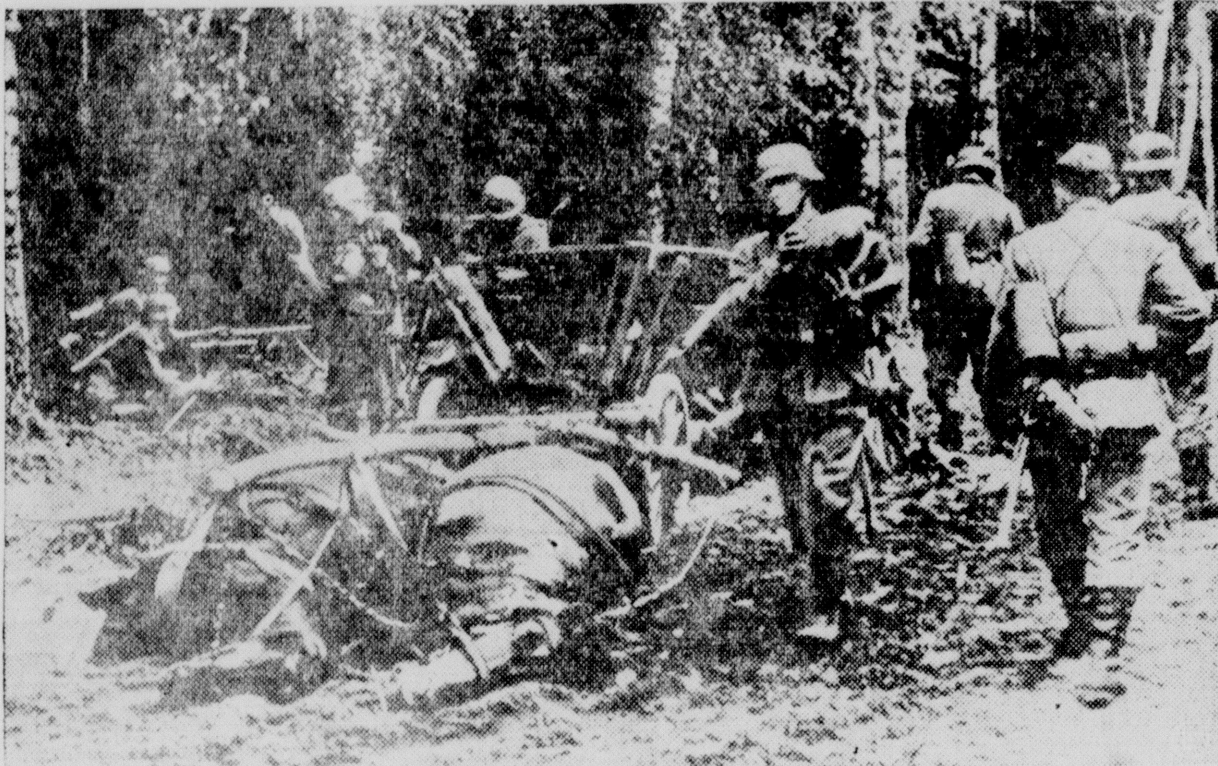

Chicago, Sept. 20—(AP)—A coroner's jury recommended last night that Yorke Bodden, 24, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murdering Ann Riermaier, 25, sister of his fiancée, Florence, 22.

The body of Ann Riermaier was found in a culvert near Volo, Lake county. Police Capt. Dan Gilbert said Bodden confessed he beat and strangled her to death Aug. 11 in his automobile because she opposed his romance with Florence.

"Man in a Million" Dies in Evanston

Chicago, Sept. 20. — (AP) — Ralph R. Obenchain, 49, once called "the man in a million" because of his defense of his divorced wife in a west coast murder trial, died tonight in the suburban Evanston hospital after a short illness.

He was a Chicago attorney. In 1922 he went to Los Angeles to help his former wife, Madalynne, who was charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy. Accused with her was Arthur Burch. Each was tried three times. Madalynne winning acquittal after two jury disagreements

AMATEUR PILOT KILLED

Chicago —(AP)— An airplane crash near La Grange airport killed Charles Raipes, 28, an amateur pilot of Berwyn, last night. Witnesses said the ship went into a spin at about 500 feet and that Raipes fell out at about 200 feet. He had taken off only about 10 minutes before. The plane was owned by Don Kruswick, Manitowoc, Wis., who arrived in it two days ago.

First Lady to Speak Twice in Illinois

Carbondale, Ill., Sept. 20. — (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the president, will fill two speaking engagements in southern Illinois this week.

She will appear here tomorrow evening at the formal opening of Carbondale's new $200,000 armory and on Saturday at Robinson. "The Relationship of an Individual to the Community" will be the subject of both addresses, which are sponsored by civic groups.
